General remark

The library of the Philosophical Seminary is one part of the “Libraries in the Philosophikum” which also hosts stock of books of the “Seminary for the History of the arts” and the “Seminaries of Roman-Catholic Theology”. The following topics refer mostly to characteristics of the philosophical library.

Topics of interest

Information Desk

The information desk on the ground floor ensures and monitors the proper use of all libraries in the Philosophikum. In addition to the library administration in room 11 it is also a contact address general questions, problems and suggestions related the use of the library. The information desk is also responsible for booking borrowed and returned media.

Lending

The library of the Department of Philosophy grants an overnight or weekend loan for students and guests with a maximum of 5 books per person. Extended conditions apply for university staff. Please present your ULB ID or your student card. Books from the Libri Rari collection, reference works with the prefixed shelfmark Hb, journals and titles from the semester collections are excluded from lending.

Using the Library

All members of Münster University as well as academically interested individuals (see also -> Lending) may use the library. Please deposit bags, backpacks etc. in the lockers before entering the library. Drinks may be taken along in break- and leak-proof containers. Food is not allowed. Carrying baskets for your personal belongings are available for use. The philosophy book collections are accessible via two internal staircases and a lift.

Inventory

Total portfolio: approx. 73.000 volumes
Annual increment: approx. 400 volumes
Journal subscriptions (print): 17 titles

The books are arranged on the floors in alphabetical order of the subject groups or in ascending Roman numeration.

Library Administration
